TALENT FORAGE

TREES

Every day I walk into the forests,
To meet my faithful friends
They stand there tall and high
To listen to the stories, I have to say.
I fly in there open and free
Enjoying the silent hums of peace
My heartbeats calm and composed
As I walk between the woods of love.
Nature is an endless combination
With zero laws and repetitions
Each turn a wondrous new realm
Each piece is arranged with perfection.
These woods are imperfect yet, perfect
Spreading its branches wide
With lots of bends and twists
Reminding us how beautiful creation is.
Every leaf has a story to tell
Every rattling speaks a bliss
Listen to what nature speaks,
You may find all the answers you seek.
As I take each step, I realize
The importance of these tall friends
Beneath whom we can sit for a shelter
And without whom we can't survive.

-Vaishnavi S (22MSI0045)

Smile

The world looks brighter,
With just a sweet smile
This is a great language,
Each one should try
You smile at your friend,
And she smiles at another
When a smile is spread,
The world comes together
Keep on smiling whatever others may say,
For this is the only thing
That makes life stay

-Kumari Priya Lal(21BCE2261)

SILENCE

I walked along the shoreline
My footprints pasted on the sand
The rhythm of the crumbling seas
Sounded no good to me.
The night was dark and lonely
The winds were howling lightly
The silence was deep and scary
Chilling my whole body.
I could hear the sound of silence
And the breaking of the clouds
The roars of the waves approaching,
As they kiss the shores of my lonely nights.
I stood there alone and still
I let the silence grow
To drown me in my pain
Which words never expressed.
I sat there like an elf,
No one but myself,
Thinking about my life,
Which was now in ruins.
Finally, the tear fell
Wetting my cheeks smoothly
Reminding me of the bitterness
As I went into the silence.

-Vaishnavi S (22MSI0045)
